

Marian is frequently involved in child evangelism and women's ministry opportunities. She has been guest speaker for several Ladies Retreats for Cedine Ministries. She has authored several poetry books, several being Treasures of Darkness and The Black Thread.

Marian began ministering to children in 1987 when she was led to resign her twenty-two year public school career with the Cleveland Heights-University School District to become a full-time field worker with Child Evangelism Fellowship (CEF). There she was required to raise her support as a full-time missionary. In January 1997, she resigned from CEF to server the LORD as a faith field worker with the urban ministry of Christian Family Outreach. She continues today to labor daily with a special burden in her heart for God's women and children. She likes to say that God has given her faith to believe that He can use her "five loaves and two fishes." (John 6:9)

She has been an Instructor at the Progressive Baptist Bible Institute, national Baptist Congress of Christian Education and warren Bible Institute, host of the Good News radio broadcast, conductor of seminars and conferences in churches in the USA, Ghana, Nigeria, Sierra Leone, Cote d' Ivoire, South Africa, and Germany, speaker for numerous women's days, retreats, and youth programs, telephone counselor and coordinator for telephone evangelistic outreach to children, Sunday School teacher, teacher of children at home Bible clubs, camps and The City Mission and more.

She continues to promote the mission of the Church by: personally reaching children and youth with God's Word through Good News Clubs, camps, youth programs, 5-Day clubs, schools, etc.; helping women live victorious Christian lives and realize their responsibility to nurture children in Christ through the Women In Christ ministry and speaking engagements; getting more Christians active in public schools through direct advocacy; using the media by writing for Christian publications and hosting a Christian radio broadcast; training others in evangelism and disciple building with special emphasis on ministering to children and developing effective outreach to children.
